Indiana conditions are very similar.
Ohio will have but a fair yield, less than the ordinary. Michigan varies from half to full crop, with an average of fair. In Kentucky more counties have full crops than in the neighboring states to the north, yet the yield is poor in so many localities that it will greatly reduce the average for the state.

A few counties in Missouri have full crops, but most of the correspondents report a very short crop. In Kansas the crop is very short, in deed, and of the entire area sown not more than 40 per cent will be harvested. # PENNSYLVANIA'S DECLINING and 1963 there was a further decline of over 25 per cent. to 20,214,513 barrels. Last year lowered the output to about 19,225,000 harrels, which is less than do per cent, of the production in these two States four years ago. The very large increase in the output of petroleum in West Virginia and Indiana has not sufficed to compensate for the loss in Pennšylvania, and until the last vear there was a decline in the production in the entire country from the highest point reached in 1891. The total output of oil in the United States during the past five years has been as follows:

The rate at which the production of petroleum in Pennsylvania is declining revives the much-discussed question of the duration of the supply in this State. That the point of virtual exhaustion of the Pennsylvania oil fields is being rapidly approached and that the supply is in no danger of depletion have been argued by authorities equally entitled to consideration. In support of the theory of abundant supply it is asserted that the tremendous decline in production in the last three or four years has been due to the unremunerative prices which followed the enormous output in 1891. In line with this argument was the statement that the advance in prices by the Standard Oil Company in April was designed to effect an increase in the production by stimulating the development of new territory. In less than two weeks At a meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee held at Columbus, Ohto, on the 25th day of June to fix the date and place of the State Convention, it was ordered:

That the date of said Convention be fixed for Tuesday and Wednesday, August 20th and state 1205. the price of crude oil rose from $1.70 dous activity in the drilling of new Obio.

The District Caucuses will be held on the afternoon of August 20th, at such an hour and at such places as may be fixed by the Committee of Arrangements.

The Convention will meet for temporary organization and to receive the reports of the district meetings at 10 a.m., August 21st.

A resolution was adopted by the Committee directing that in any county where either the Democratic County Central or Executive Committee cannot agree upon any question affecting the interest of the party the member of the Central Committee for the district in which such county is situated be authorized and empowered to cast the deciding vote in the production of petroleum in the eastern fields, and it is now no greater than before the stimulus was applied. The daily shipments are still in excess of the flow of the wells. Whatever may be the truth about the duration of the wells under the incentive of high the truth about the duration of the Pennsylvania oil fields, the figures show that this State is furnishing

If the reader will consult his map, he will see that the Zuyder Zee cuts a great gap into the northwest corner of Holland and submerges land equal perhaps to a sixth part of the whole kingdom. The Dutch propose to build a great embankment from North Holland, the extreme northwestern province, across eastward and slightly northward to the coast of Friesland. ## AMATEUR SHERLOCK

LEAVES FROM HIS NOTEBOOK ON SIGN PICTURES OF BURGLARS.

What Chalk Marks on the Freat bloop or Gate May Mean-On the Other Hand, They May Be Only the Scrawle of Mischievous Boys Which Mean Nothing.

The amateur Sherlock Holmes has added another chapter to his bttle notebook which records the significance of trifles that are important clews to the doings of the criminal classes. Spots of ink, eigar ashes, marks on the finger and the particles of dust in the folds of an umbrella are all eloquent to this observant seeker after truth as revealing times, places and occurrences in which people may have been engaged. There is whole literature on the muds of New York and vicinity, their color and coniospheric moisture under which they all be reduced to a fluid state, while oothpicks and matches as characteristic of various restaurants and localities are all of meaning. Now it appears, by what the amateur Sherlock Holmes has been revealing in moment of confidence, that the dead walls of New York, stoops of houses, basement entrances and area gateways are the signposts of the criminal classes, and that what look like the rude scrawlings of boys are in reality the secret symbols by which burglars communicate vith each other.

Chalk marks under the edge of one of our front steps may mean that your bouse has been spotted and will be brocen into on a certain date. A rude drawing on the area railings may to the enlightened eye of the initiated mean: This man has a burglar alarm on his second story windows and keeps a revolver under his pillow, but the silver is in the butler's pantry on the first floor, and the house may be entered through the second basement window, where the latch is broken."

The fraternity which has developed this sign language to such a high degree enjoyed the stage entertainment I was of perfection shows considerable ingenunot unmindful of the one that was in ity in its design, but no attempt is made at accuracy of drawing, as that would attract attention. She Now Declares That Lawyers Come Under the Head of Nuisances. A few evenings ago a lawyer living in West Philadelphia was visited at his residence by an indignant woman, who declared that she had come for legal advice, and in a businesslike manner deposited on his table a $5 note as a retaining fee. After pocketing the money the man of law politely requested her to proceed with her statement. She said she was continually afflicted with a series of nuisances which she desired the lawyer to have abolished.

She was annoyed by a neighbor on one side, she said, who is a music teach er and trainer of the voice. The constant thumping on the piano and the discordant notes of the vocal students made her very nervous. On the other side the neighbor kept chickens, which awoke her early in the morning by their crowing and annoyed her during the market for dysentery, summer comday by flying over the feuce and invading her premises.
